

Our Pledge

In a nutshell... We won't ever sell out the hard work you do to make our business more profitable.

We have seen a number of certified professional accreditations in a race for the bottom when it comes to pumping as many bodies through their system as they possibly can.

We think this is both short sighted on their part and a great shame for the people who have invested in good faith in undertaking their qualification when the accreditation had a higher value.

We believe that accreditations which encompass practical expertise acquired over time in the learner's professional context are the best way to maintain the value of the qualification. This applies for us and for those who put the work in to get their badges.

Our Manifesto

In creating our Agile Learning Experiences, we have come to recognise the value of:

- Employers who understand the return they will get from investing in their people OVER those who simply see training as a cost
- Self-investors who want knowledge and skills that will retain value OVER those who simply want a quick certification
- Real skills acquired and measured in real time OVER compressed courses with open book exams and a guaranteed pass
- Long term investment in our own business by never allowing ourselves to become an exam factory OVER compromising our values to bolster short term financial gain.
